The secret conclave of the radical Governors of the Northern States in Philadelphia, after the adjournment of the convention on Tuesday last, is one of the most significant and slarming signs of the times. A portion of the proceedings leaked out, and the correspondent of the Herald gave the public the benefit of that on Wednesday last. But we have the strongest reasons for aviving that the question then yenon Wednesday last. But we have the strongest reasons for saying that the question then venitated about dedging negro suffrage was not the only or most important one discussed by this conclave. It is understood that a revolutionary programme was entertained looking to future political contingencies—that is, to prepare arms and efficient armed State organizations for a conflict with the conservatives, and possibly with the President, in the event of the radicals being in danger of losing their power through the result of the fall elections. It is evident that these really dangerous leaders of a dangerous party are determined to hold on to their power at all hazards; for, as Governor Cony, of Maine, said, if they lose it now "then all is lost." They are doubtless prepared to impeach and remove the President and to place Ben. Wade or some other violent Jacobin in his place, and would resist the legitimate power of the Executive to the extent of calling out the militia of the States. The secret and threatening attitude of these of the of calling out the militia of the States. The secret and threatening attitude of these Governors is the counterpart of the meeting of the Governors of the rebel States when they seceded and made war on the Union. In order that the people may know who these conspirators against the Union are we give their names. They are as follows:

Governor Coutin, of Pennsylvania.

Ex Governor Buckingham of Connecticut.

Governor Yates, of Milnois.

Governor Marshall, of Minnesota.

Governor Marshall, of Minnesota.

Governor Smyth, of New Hampshire.

Ex Governor Douglass, of Connecticut.
Eleven Governors of States, besides ex Governors and Lieutenant Governors, composed this new secret Jacobin club. The violent declamations of the miserable firebrands, male declamations of the miserable firebrands, male and female, black and white, in the convention, and at public meetings in Philadelphia, might not be regarded as very serious; but it is far different with the secret meeting of a body of men who have the executive power of eleven Northern States in their hands.

There is danger ahead, and it behooves the conservative masses of the North to look to it. As to the South, there is no danger there. The people of that section have experienced the horrors of civil war to such a degree and are so thoroughly subdued that they will not try rebellion again. The danger is at home, We may have, before we are aware of it, a bloody civil war in every State, county and city in the North. Incredulous and easy going people may pooh pooh such an idea, but it is nevertheless so, Did not the rebellion of the South commence in just such a way? Do not all reup than at the present time. A fame like this once lighted spreads with increasing fury, and it is very difficult to arrest its progress. In It is very difficult to arrest its progress. In all seriousness, therefore, we warn the people to watch these threatening events. We call upon them to arouse themselves before it be too late to avert the dangers that surround as, The power of the radicals must be utterly destroyed or we shall be plunged into revolu-tion and anarchy.

Special Correspondence of Daily Herald.

BLOOMINGTON, September 10, 1866.

EDITOR OF THE HERALD—A joint political discussion, between Hon, JASON B. BROWN and one Colonel STINGROOMB, who says he is from Ohio, took place at Bloomington, on Saturday night last.

Notice of a meeting to be addressed by Mr.

Brown and Hon. James B. Ryan had been previously given, and in order that the meeting might not conflict with a Republican meeting fixed for that day, Saturday night was selected as the time. Subsequently, prompted by some creditable purpose of course, the radical metions, and the air ranging in three hearty cheers for Captain Kirk.
